PROTECTING CROP INPUTS

MSGA continues to take a stand to protect crop inputs and ensure they remain in our growers' toolbox. Growers need all the products at their disposal to stay ahead of the game and safeguard against yield-robbing pests and diseases. Thanks to the support of members and industry partners, MSGA works with lawmakers and regulators to protect crop inputs and prevent unnecessary restrictions and fees on the use of agriculture chemicals.

In recent years, we've been proud to join the farm community and other ag groups in preventing the passage of legislation that would have allowed cities to enact their own pesticide regulations, along with stopping additional seed treatment regulations.

Participating in the Beck's Soybean Classic is just one of the many ways you can support our advocacy efforts in St. Paul and Washington, D.C.

See you on the golf course for a good cause and great fun!
